GRAND RIVERS

ENTERTAINS 1,500 PLANTERS AT BIG UNION RALLY.

Will Purchase Big Brick Warehouse at That Point—Hendy for the Meeting.

Fifteen hundred farmers attended the rally of the Farmers' Union in Grand Rivers Saturday and much enthusiasm was aroused for the project of buying the big brick warehouse there for use by the union. It was announced that the deal would be closed before fall by which this magnificent building would become union property. State Organizer H. L. Barnett, W. B. Evans and other Farmers' Union organizers addressed the crowds, and dinner was served on the grounds. The next big Farmers' Union event will be the state meeting here August 6, 7 and 8, which from all indications will draw a big crowd in addition to the delegates.

Independence Party. Chicago, July 27.—Delegates to the Independence national convention, which opens tonight are "up in the air" for lack of leadership, as Hearst refuses to indicate what he believes the convention should do. He will outline ideas in his speech as temporary chairman and leave the convention to act. Howard, of Alabama, Hissen, of Massachusetts, Taylor of Illinois, Walsh, of Iowa, and Lewing, are candidates for president. There is a possibility of a dark horse, however.

Independents at conference leaders this afternoon practically decided to nominate Hissen, of Massachusetts, with a southern man as his running mate.

Notification Tomorrow. Cincinnati, July 27.—Taft spent a half hour discussing the platform and the notification tomorrow with the arrangement committee and then sat for new photographs. Afternoon he is holding a meeting with the state committee arranging campaign plans. Hundreds of prominent Republicans from all over the country are arriving for the notification. Everywhere Taft goes he is given a royal reception by the towns people.

Bryan at Des Moines. Des Moines, Iowa, July 27.—Bryan was given a warm reception on his arrival today. He was introduced to the crowd at the station by Jerry Sullivan, Democratic nominee for governor. He made a brief address, especially discussing the tariff problem.

FATHER DALY

DELIVERS MAGNIFICENT LECTURE ON JUVENILE TRAINING.

Closing Performance of Paducah Chautauqua With Lecture Reading and Concert.

The annual assembly of the Paducah Chautauqua association closed yesterday, and while it was not successful financially as has been previous ones, the program for this year has been the most attractive and entertaining yet. The attendance was large for the closing day and a most excellent program was given by Father John Daly, Miss Elma H. Smith and the Schubert Trio.

The lecture of Father Daly on "The Homeless Child and the Juvenile Court" was one of the most interesting that has been heard here. Father John Daly is a born orator and gives to his hearers a thrilling story of experience had among the slums and tenements of the big cities in a most charming and impressive manner. His voice is rich and resonant, he has a fund of good stories which blend with the pathetic stories he tells of the privations and hardships of poverty, and a personality that wins the attention and sympathy of his audience from the beginning.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET

Woodville was not found suitable for the place of meeting of the McCracken County Sunday school association August 29, and Highland church has been selected instead. The Rev. William Bourquin is working on the program which will be out in a short time.

MRS. STEPHON IS HELD TO ANSWER BY POLICE JUDGE

Offer of $100 Check to Alderman Miller Will Go Before Grand Jury.

Attorneys Argue Case in the Police Court.

HER BOND IS FIXED AT $300.

Mrs. Maggie Stephon, charged with an attempt to bribe Alderman W. T. Miller to use his influence for the granting of a saloon license to her husband, Phil Stephon, was held to the grand jury this morning and bond was fixed at $300. After Alderman Miller had given his testimony Hon. Charles K. Wheeler made a motion to dismiss the warrant, and the motion was argued. Police Judge D. A. Cross overruled the motion. The defense declined to introduce testimony. Alderman Miller told the story of Mrs. Stephon going to his office, assuring him that she had a check for $100 for his trouble and time in seeing the councilmen and aldermen in favor of granting the license.

In his argument Mr. Wheeler held that it was not any of Alderman Miller's official duty to see the aldermen and councilmen, and that Mrs. Stephon was no more guilty under the state statute than had she offered an attorney remuneration to speak to the members of the general council. County Attorney Alben Barkley replied for the prosecution.

Mrs. Stephon gave a bond of $300 for her appearance before the grand jury next September.

MURRAY MEETING ATTRACTS MANY TOBACCO GROWERS

Murray, Ky., July 27. (Special.)—Fully 1,000 farmers are in town today attending the triple attraction of a special term of the circuit court, county court and a tobacco rally. Organizers and officers of the Planters' Protective association are in town delivering speeches and there is manifested considerable enthusiasm. Everything is quiet and orderly today.

Organizers Busy. Charles H. Fort of the Planters' Protective association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia, spent Sunday in the city, arriving from his home in Adams, Tenn., to attend several rallies in western Kentucky. With W. E. Frazer, assistant general manager, and John H. Allen, an organizer and orator, Mr. Fort went to Murray this morning where a meeting of the association members in Calloway county will be held.

Within the last six weeks, practically every officer of note in the association has visited Paducah and the western district of Kentucky stirring up the interest of the membership and endeavoring to enlarge the subscription books of the association. The association has competition now with other farmers' organizations and is alive to the situation. Promises of a bumper crop also operate to cause activity among the organizers, as they desire to get as much pooled with the association as possible.

PRESIDENT PARK BOARD APPOINTED FOR SECOND TERM

Dr. D. G. Murrell, president of the board of park commissioners, whose term has expired, was reappointed again to the board by Mayor James P. Smith for a term of five years. Dr. Murrell has made a most efficient commissioner. He has displayed great interest in making the city more beautiful, and Mayor Smith thought it not only for the best interests of the city, but just to Dr. Murrell, that he should be reappointed for another term in order that he may take official part in carrying into execution the excellent plans which the board has mapped out and is almost ready to proceed with.

Castro Arouses Dutch and Now Everybody is Glad to See Him Get Everything That is Coming to Him

Fleet in American Waters Directed to Make Demonstration and Shoot Up Seaport if Found Necessary.

GOT THEIR DUTCH UP.

Amsterdam, July 27.—It is officially announced that all Dutch warships in American waters have been ordered to make a demonstration against Venezuela as the result of Castro's expulsion of the Dutch minister. Unless Castro apologizes it is expected that vessels will bombard Porto Gallo.

Washington Pleased.

Washington, July 27.—The official announcement that Holland intends to discipline Castro has caused satisfaction here. Castro's highland acts, which aroused the enmity of England, Germany, France, Italy and America, have shown that he needs a lesson. As more than commercial matters are involved in Holland's demand for apology, it is believed now is the time to teach him.

Circuit Court. Attorney M. E. Gilbert filed suit for Mattie Dunney against her husband Lawrence Dunney, asking for absolute divorce and the custody of their child.

POTTER PALMER WEDS

Chicago, July 27.—Potter Palmer, son of Mrs. Potter-Palmer, the society leader, was married to Pauline Kohlman, daughter of Editor H. H. Kohlman. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present.

THE END OF IT

Cincinnati, July 27.—The superior court declared unconstitutional the appointment of a legislative committee to investigate charges of alleged "grafting" in Hamilton county. The case will be appealed but there is little chance of a reversal. It is regarded as the end of the attempt.

NINE CANDIDATES

The first for of the campaign will fly next Thursday night when the nine candidates for city jailer will speak at Farley place. This will inaugurate a series of speakings that will be held over the city before the primary, August 6. The candidates promise to make things interesting, and the voters will be there to hear the merits of each aspirant.

HASKELL INTERFERES

Guthrie, Okla., July 27.—Governor Haskell in federal court asked that suits instituted by Attorney General West to compel the Prairie Oil and Gas company to domesticate before building additional pipe lines be dismissed. Haskell holds that West had no power to file suits without the governor's permission. He seeks the dismissal because he promised the company it could lay its lines.

BAT BROKE HIS HEAD

Play ball, the umpire yelled Sunday afternoon in the common back of Katterjohn's brick yard, the pitcher twisted into a knot and unwound with a curve which the man at the bat struck at so vigorously that the bat slipped from his hands and landed against the side of Henry Harper's head, fracturing his skull. Harper is a 14-year-old colored boy, who lives on South Tenth street. Dr. J. D. Robertson attended him and he will recover.

SOUTH SIDE CLEAN UP

Mechanicsburg is receiving a general cleaning by the city chain gang, and when completed it will look as bright as a new pin. Turnkey George Brown has a large force of men at work cleaning out gutters and eliminating weeds from the city's property as the sanitary inspectors have been on the stir. One owner hitched up a large hay mower and started after the weeds on his property. Other neighbors followed suit, and the south section of the city is receiving a general cleaning up.

HOUSEBREAKING CHARGE AGAINST ONE ARMED NEGRO

Police Think He is Guilty of Numerous Crimes Committed Here Recently.

Chicken Thieves Robbed Debees' Coop Saturday.

SUNDAY DINNERS ARE MISSING

Tom Baker, a one-armed negro, was arrested this morning by Police Sergeant Emile Goureaux, on a charge of housebreaking. The police are investigating Baker's record, and it is believed he is guilty of robbing several homes.

Hungry Thieves Abroad. Thieves with an eye to providing a good Sunday dinner for themselves were abroad Saturday night, and numerous attempts were reported to the police department of trying to rob law boxes and back porches, baskets of provisions were stolen from the residence of John T. Mercer, 1607 Tennessee street Saturday night. Other homes in the vicinity were visited but when discovered the thief broke and ran away with his plunder of edibles.

Burglar Was Target. A burglar tried to break into the home of Mable Brown, Tenth and Burnett streets, Saturday night at 1 o'clock, but was discovered before he entered. A shot was fired at him but the thief escaped.

Stole Six Chickens. Sunday dinner at the home of R. E. Debee, 123 North Seventh street, was short fried chicken because some audacious thief stole six chickens from the coop Saturday night and forgot to notify the family so others might be purchased. This is the third time the home has been visited by burglars this year, and the members of the household are surprised that they are so popular. The thief broke the lock to the door and carried off the fowls for his Sunday dinner without leaving the feathers for the family.

Japanese Seal Pirates. Washington, July 27.—Advices from Alaska say that five Japanese schooners were sighted off St. Paul's Island. They haven't come within the three mile limit, but are being watched to prevent another seal pirating attempt.

They remained in the buggy until the horse struck a ditch and both were thrown out. By the fall they were badly bruised about the body, but no bones were broken.

Kitten Adopts Rabbit. Mr. A. C. Royster, a farmer near Maxon Mills, is the owner of a cat that is raising a family of four kittens and one young rabbit. About two weeks ago the old mother cat brought in a young rabbit she had caught out in the fields and put it in the nest with her kittens. The young rabbit yesterday was the object of much admiration from a crowd of people that visited the Royster farm.

Benton, Ky., July 27. (Special.)—It is said that 85 per cent of the tobacco in Marshall county is in the association, which will close its books midnight July 31. Saturday was the big association rally day and more than a thousand planters were in Benton, attending the speaking at the court house. A big basket picnic at noon was a popular social feature of the occasion. Enthusiasm was all the organizers could desire. In the morning Joel B. Fort spoke, and in the afternoon J. W. Graham, Alvin Miller was chairman.

HOLLAN'S INDIANS DEFEATED ELKS

Interesting Game With Score of Twelve to Four.

Lodge Men Put Up Hard Fight and
Keep the Regulars Wide
Awake.

BOTH PITCHERS THREW WELL.

With changed line-ups Hollan's Indians and the Elks crossed bats yesterday afternoon at the reservation, and when the smoke of the battle had blown over the Elks had lost 12 to 4. Notwithstanding the one-sided score the game was well played and the crowd on hand had a merry time rooting at the players. Sutton, for the Elks, and Arnold, for the Indians, pitched creditable games, and but for errors at critical times the score would have been smaller.

Sutton yielded twelve hits, but the six errors of the Elks made scores when men should have been retired. He dropped slants over the plate in nine spots, and had the Indians guessing all through. Arnold twirled a good game for the Indians, and the five hits he allowed, show just where the Elks stood on the scoring line. Only four errors were made behind Arnold, who was relieved in the seventh inning by Romyan.

Of the Indians Williams led in the shagging as out of five times at bat he cracked out four hits, and Davis got three out of five. Hart smacked out two bingles and Newman did likewise. While errors were being made, Hart and Williams watched their chance and wiped home station. Goodman, of the Indians, helped out the R. I. O. E. by killing short and he played a nice game.

The lineups were:
Indians—Arnold, p. and 3b; Davis, 2b; Romyan, 1b; Williams, 2b; Bradley, ss; Romyan, p. and 2b; Newman, lf; Hossan, cf; Hart, rf.

Elks—Ewell, ss; Harringer, cf; Goodman, 2b; Head, 1b; Wolff, lf; Well, rf; Donovan, 3b; Allen, c; Sutton, p.

Next Thursday the Elks and the Knights of Columbus will cross bats at League park for the benefit of the Home of the Friendless. This is the first time the two clubs have faced each other, and a warm game may be expected. Next Sunday the Indians and the great Powderly team will have a battle here. Powderly was two out of three games from the Indians and the team has been the only winning club this year. However, the Indians promise to wipe the coal miners out of existence.

Life without diffentilly is but death.

May Divide Archbishops.

Since the death of Bishop Hollan, of Cleveland, speculation has been rife as to his successor. There has also been considerable talk of raising that diocese to an arch-diocese. The Cleveland Plain Dealer, a non-Catholic daily, has the following to say on the subject, which is of interest to Louisville, as it is among the possibilities that arch-see may come this way:

"Cleveland, the head of a great and powerful Catholic population, is to play an increasingly prominent part in the future of the American church, according to the best informed churchmen in the city.

"The pressure of population within the archdiocese of Cincinnati will make the question of subdividing the territory a problem of the near future. It will have to be faced before long, and speculations are rife as to just what form the subdivision will take. The sees are Louisville and Cincinnati, Ky., Cleveland and Columbus, O., Detroit and Grand Rapids, Mich., Indianapolis and Fort Wayne, Ind., and Nashville, Tenn. These comprise the largest number of suffragan sees in the United States, giving the arch-see of Cincinnati a very prominent place in the church. Even New York and Chicago, which contain the largest Catholic population, have not so many great and populous centers under the same spirit and jurisdiction.

"Should the archdiocese be divided, some well-informed churchmen think that the higher honors will go to Detroit, and others favor Louisville, as it represents the oldest of the sees of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, and now over two years old.

"Cleveland, however, is believed to have the best chance for the honor. The bishopric of Cleveland is considered one of the most important in the middle west, and it is one of the strongest Catholic centers in the country. If the archdiocese of Cincinnati is divided, which because of local preponderance I should say that Cleveland would be the seat of the northern division," said Monsignor Hoff, administrator of the bishopric, yesterday.

The territory included would doubtless be the see of Cleveland and the two sees of Michigan and Indiana. As to the status of Louisville the mere fact that it contains the oldest see would not be considered as a determining factor. Round the fore vital considerations that are to be borne upon.

Some acts with extreme commiseration, however, and we need not feel for his decision in the matter for this or years to come. All the speculation of the past will be ended and away when the subdivision has been made. But come it will in time. That Bishop O'Donnell, rector of News Notes From the Sunday Papers.

At the meeting of the Democratic national committee in Chicago the following officers were chosen to have charge of the coming campaign: Norman B. Mack, New York, chairman of the national committee; L. P. Hell, Nebraska, vice chairman; Roy Woodson, Kentucky, secretary; Roy Charles N. Haskell, Oklahoma, treasurer; John T. Martin, Missouri, sergeant-at-arms. Henry Washington was named to head the newspaper committee which will handle the publicity problems of the campaign.

Miss Amanda Vinton, 10-year-old daughter of Pinkney Vinton, was drowned in the Ohio river a week ago, where she went with a party of friends. Charles E. Vinton was almost drowned, and was rescued only after strenuous efforts, and his son and daughter were in grave danger. Their rescue was effected by J. H. Cooper and Robert Howell.

Judge William H. Taft arrived at Cincinnati where he will remain until after the official notification extending on Tuesday. Elaborate plans have been made for the event, and many delegates from other cities and states will be present.

The statement of the New York clearing house banks for last week shows that the banks held $56,516,250 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is an increase of $7,787,850 in the participants cash reserve compared with the previous week.

INJUNCTION RULE
PROTECTS LABOR

Regulations of Supreme Court of the United States.

New Law Unnecessary—Mr. Taft Informed of Overlooked Detail and Will Make Use of It.

THE NEW LAW IS UNNECESSARY.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Just before Mr. Taft left Vicksburg Hot Springs for Oyster Bay his attention was called to a rule of the supreme court in regard to the issuance of injunctions which seems to have been entirely lost sight of in the discussion of the platform plank demanded by the labor leaders. Says Raymond in the Chicago Tribune:

Everybody has admitted that the writ of injunction has been misused only in the rarest cases. Now and then a judge has carelessly issued an order without going into the facts. It is probable, however, that in a great many more cases no injunctions have been issued, although the facts probably warranted them.

Former Attorney General W. H. H. Miller informed Mr. Taft that there was a rule of the supreme court for the guidance of the circuit courts of the United States which provided that notice must be given in all except emergency cases. No one had a copy of this rule, and it was too late to open up a new discussion in the letter of acceptance, but the matter will be taken up during the campaign. In such a way as to show that in labor disputes, as well as in all other litigation, the rights of defendants are fully protected by an order of the highest court in the land.

Rule as Binding as Law.
I secured a copy of this rule, and another copy has already been mailed to Mr. Taft. These rules of practice are prescribed by the supreme court for the guidance of circuit courts. They are as binding on circuit and district courts as any statute law, and any judge, if his attention were called to them, would follow the instructions, because otherwise the case would certainly be reversed on appeal and the offending judge would be subject to public rebuke. The rule to which the former attorney general called the attention of Mr. Taft is as follows:

"Whenever an injunction is asked for by a bill to stay proceedings at law, if the defendant does not enter his appearance and plead a demurrer or answer to the same within the time prescribed by these rules, the plaintiff shall be entitled as of course upon motion without notice to such injunction. But a special injunction shall be granted only upon due notice to the other party by the court in term or by the judge thereof in vacation, after a hearing, which may be ex parte, if the adverse party does not appear at the time and place ordered. In every case where an injunction, either common injunction or special injunction, is awarded in vacation, it shall unless previously dissolved by the judge granting the same, continue until the next term of court, or until it is dissolved by some other order of court."

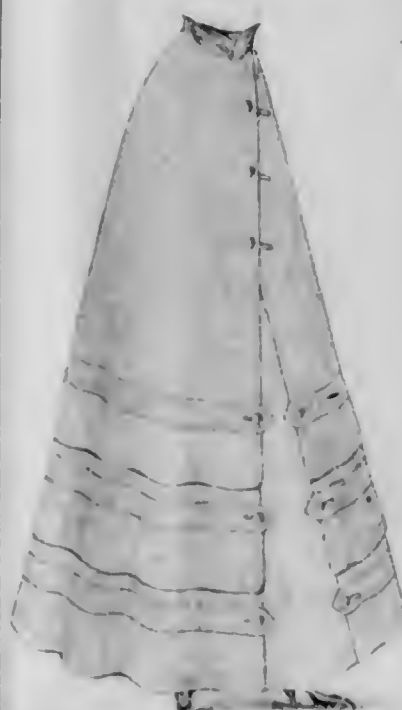

Modified by Statute.
This rule of the supreme court for the regulation of circuit courts in their equity practice is, of course, modified by the provision of law of June 1, 1872, which reads as follows:

"That whenever notice is given of a motion for an injunction out of a circuit or district court of the United States, the court or judge thereof may if there appear to be danger of irreparable injury from delay, grant an order restraining the act sought to be enjoined under a decision is had upon the motion. Such order may be granted with or without security in the discretion of the court or judge; provided, that no justice of the supreme court shall hear or allow any application for an injunction or restraining order except within the circuit to which he is allotted, and in cases pending in the circuit to which he is allotted, or in such cases at such places outside of the circuit as parties may in writing stipulate, except in cases where such application cannot be heard by the circuit judge of the circuit or district judge of the district."

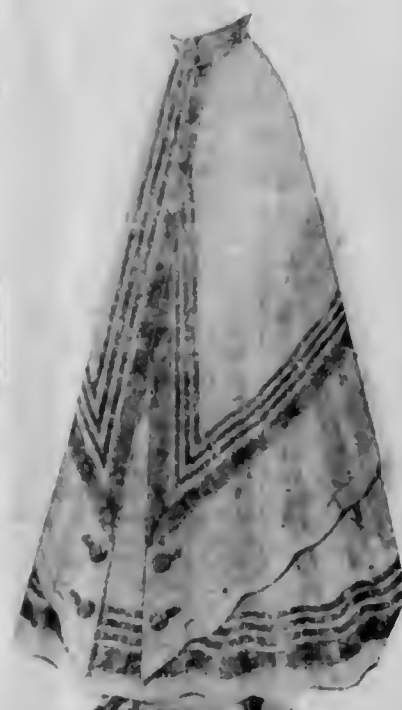

Labor Demands.
This rule and its modification by statute law seems to show that there has been a good deal of froth about the demands made by labor leaders for modification of the injunction practice in the federal courts. In point of fact, whatever abuses have grown up are probably due to faulty practice of the courts in not obeying the law and the regulations prescribed by the supreme court. These two things together absolutely fulfill all the pledges made in the Republican platform, so that there is scarcely any need of legislation. Exactly as stated in the platform, any labor union which is to be affected by an injunction has a perfect right to be heard unless it can be shown to the satisfaction of the judge that irreparable damage would be done to property or persons by any delay. Even in that case the defendants are entitled to notice and can come into court at once and show that no harm would be done by suspending the writ of injunction pending an actual trial of the case before the court.

At the department of justice, and in the bureau of labor it is said that the whole difficulty about the giving of notice which Mr. Gompers and his assistants have sought to make an issue in the campaign arises from the somewhat intangible organization of labor unions. Frequently a strike is ordered by some walking delegate whose actual identity is unknown to anyone except to the men themselves. In other cases the court is appealed to for protection actually against all persons. In such cases it is manifestly impossible to give notice to any specific person.

Hearings Provided For.
The court simply issues an order restraining any one from interfering with the property in question or from attacking new employees. The order is as general in its character as law, and of course no one would come into court and say that he wanted to burn up an establishment or to maltreat some "scab" workmen. The practice in such cases is for the court to give notice by publication and then any one whose rights have been interfered with can come into court and ask to have the injunction modified or vacated altogether. Where there is any particular person, like the recognized head of a labor union or certain employees, whether they be union men or not, the injunction can be directed against them specifically by name.

Steam Shovels and Dredges.
The rapid progress made by the excavating and dredging machinery along the line of the Panama canal has an assurance that a new era is at hand for internal improvements on a large scale in the United States. Some of the work going forward on irrigation projects is pushed in a similar manner, and mining operations also have a like expansion. In the Yukon country a gold dredge has been introduced that, with the aid of 11 men, handles from 2,500 to 4,000 cubic yards of gravel daily, while the average of a miner with his ordinary implements is only six cubic yards. Its means of ditches and canals, some of which have already been constructed along the Yukon, the dredges can work into sand banks as well as along creeks. One of the dredges, just completed, is 50 miles long, with a width at the bottom allowing two teams to be driven abreast. Klondike mining practically dates only from 1894, but its gravel deposits, so far, have yielded 6,000,000 ounces of gold. But the business today is mainly carried on by means of high-priced machinery. With such appliances, it is no wonder that the gold production of the world has advanced at the rate of $30,000,000 a year during the last decade. Nor is there any sign that the increase will be arrested, so economists must deal with the subject according to their knowledge and insight. At each end of the Panama canal a steam dredge of the largest type ever constructed is busy. Not many years will be required to build the lakes-to-gulf deep channel when the resources of modern machinery are brought into action upon it.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

In the general awakening of Turkey, the women are allowed to discard their veils on the street; but they are still a long way from the director's gown.

Mr. Bryan should beware lest his visitors think Fairview is such a pleasant place to live, they will fail to sympathize with his desire to move to Washington.

A young woman in Saxony, who admitted murdering a man and placing a forged will in her favor in his desk, has been executed on the guillotine. That's the trouble with a woman. To be a successful criminal, one must keep her head after the commission.

It is announced on excellent authority that if Taft is elected he will have Carpenter, of California, for his private secretary. And yet, some people thought he would need the services of a chinnet maker.

Henry Watterson has been appointed Mr. Bryan's press agent and Norman Mack, of Buffalo, has been elected chairman of the national committee with the endorsement of "Boss" Murphy and "Fleggy" Conners. Having harmonized that quartet, Mr. Bryan may be excused for any little display of exuberant optimism in regard to the final absorption of Mr. Hearst's party and hypnotizing of the business interests of the country.

COMPLIMENTS MAYOR SMITH.
A local paper, which has always opposed Mayor Smith and misrepresented him on every possible occasion, then, pays him a deserved compliment in the following editorial:

"Retribution, that silent yet certain Nemesis, camps ever upon the trail of man. He who is lulled into the pleasing fancy that flagrant disregard of personal or political obligations does not in time and often all too soon bring its reward, bases his conclusions upon a foundation of shifting sand."

"One has not to travel far from local scenes and conditions to gain a telling illustration of this fact. For instance, consider the work of the investigation board which saw fit to discharge three men from the force Friday night for reasons expressed in its notification of discharge."

"Of these men it may be said, at least, that after years of service for the Democratic party they saw fit at the last municipal election to turn their back upon the political convictions of their youth and in a moment of utter disregard for party obligation entered the ranks of the party which in the end was victorious."

This can mean nothing more than that these men would have been an investigation, if Mayor Smith had not been elected; and, since the same paper admits that "this official act has met general approval," the people are to be congratulated on Mayor Smith's election.

Of course, we appreciate the political significance of our contemporary's laudation; but that sheds light on its own moral obliquity more than on any possible transgression of Mayor James P. Smith. If our contemporary had had a cast sufficiently well in point to warrant plain speaking, it might have said: Here is a case, wherein three men who were members of the Democratic police force, voted the Republican ticket. They retained their positions when the Republicans won, but now see how they are treated by the man they supported. It is a fair warning. That is the way the Republicans will treat you. If you desert us." Interesting thus the rather vague innuendo of the editorial in question, we are not justified in assuming that our contemporary regards loyalty to political friends above loyalty to the people, and that, if a Democrat were mayor, it would throw the weight of its influence in favor of condoning any offense committed by his political allies.

Our contemporary, although The Sun tipped off the charges two days in advance, never intimated in its own columns that such an investigation was on foot, and its account of the proceedings, reflected on the Democratic board, the Democratic collector, the mayor and the witnesses, more seriously than on the accused. Yet that board is politically hostile to the mayor, who never has yet succeeded in securing the appointment or discharge of man on his recommendation. No collusion between the mayor and board was possible.

Then let us see wherein Mayor Smith has sinned politically, assuming our contemporary's assertion, to be true, that the three accused men did vote for Mayor Smith. To whom did the mayor owe the deepest obligation, the accused or the people? Supposing that in recognition of their support at the election he kept them on the force, as long as they did not transgress, and then when he thought they committed some infraction of the rules he preferred charges. Was he wrong?

The point is well illustrated by a recent incident. A man, whose license was taken away from him, introduced himself to Mayor Smith, as "So-and-So, whose license you took away from me. That's what I get for voting for you."

"Did you vote for me?" inquired the mayor.

"I certainly did, and I worked for you, too, and this is what I get."

"Well, when you asked people to vote for me, did you tell them I would do my duty and enforce the law, or did you tell them I would let you do anything you pleased?" persisted his honor.

"I said you would do your duty, all right," nimbly the confused law breaker.

"Well, then, didn't I do it in your case?" was the stunning retort, and it indicated exactly the point of view of Mayor Smith.

Whether or not the News-Democrat thinks he is a political ingrate, because he doesn't conform to its ideals of loyalty, it can draw any lesson it pleases from his conduct. We give fair warning to all people, who are inclined to presume on Mayor Smith's leniency because they voted for him, as the majority of Paducah voters did, that neither friendship nor partisan prejudice will blind him to the duty he owes to his city and its people.

MOST RADICAL PLANK OF ALL

Will be Independence League Declaration.

To Do Away Entirely With Preliminary Injunctions in Labor Cases Seems to Be Temper of Delegates.

THE CHICAGO CONVENTION

Chicago, July 27.—The platform of the Independence League, which is to meet in national convention here tonight, will, if the present plans are carried out, contain much more radical declarations on the question of injunctions than was embodied in the platforms of either the Democratic or Republican party. From present indications the temper of the convention will be in favor of a declaration doing away entirely with preliminary injunctions in cases of labor disputes.

The majority of the delegates who have arrived, also believe that there should be no punishment for contempt of court until after trial by jury. The sentiment of the convention, so far as it can be forecasted, is somewhat divided concerning the financial plank of the platform.

The majority seems to favor a declaration that all money should be issued directly by the government without any intermediary. Others incline to view that money should be issued through national banks. Over capitalization of corporations will be condemned.

Of the candidates now in the field for president Thomas L. Hilsen, of Massachusetts, has a strong following and he is apparently in the lead. W. M. Howard, of Alabama, has many friends, who are making a strong fight for him. The Indiana delegation is pushing Chas. F. S. Neal of that state. Other candidates are: John T. Graves, of Georgia, and Howard S. Taylor, of Chicago. The name of Chas. A. Walsh, of Iowa, secretary of the national committee, and who for many years acted in the same capacity for the Democratic party, is also mentioned.

William R. Hearst, who is to be temporary chairman of the convention, arrived today. Hearst said there was no probability of fusion with the Democratic party or the endorsement of Bryan.

At a conference held early in the evening it was decided that Charles A. Walsh should be permanent chairman of the convention.

J. W. CLARK

Candidate For City Jailer—Democratic Primary, Aug. 6th.

I have been ill for several days, and am now confined to my home, so won't be able to see many of my friends before the primary. Shall greatly appreciate your vote and support, and if I am elected promise a faithful discharge of the duties of the office.

THE VANISHING FLEETS
By ROY NORTON
ILLUSTRATED BY A. WEN

From the great republic the cloak of mystery and inaction was thrown aside and the cordons to the north and the south were being dissipated as if by magic. That menacing line of blue along the Canadian border was crumbling with greater rapidity than it had been formed. Here and there through the air swept 50 radioplanes carrying improvised passenger accommodations, the sun showing them as flashing birds of blue carrying the hosts of the guard back to their armories, whence they might return to their homes and occupations of peace, in every city throughout the land astonished and exultant inhabitants watched these friendly monsters which had made the nation the most redoubtable in all the world. The guns of the border were now standing unguarded, the bivouacs obliterated, and the paths of the sentries abandoned to the effacement of nature's kindly growth.

Seattle was at last liberated, and proceeded to astonish the world with accounts of the imprisonment of the Japanese fleet which had rested in the waters of Lake Washington for so many days. Photographs of it were sent broadcast, together with interviews gained from the commanders of the hapless expedition, and by special permission Admiral Kamigawa was allowed to cable to his government the first full report of his disaster which went through unceasing and unchecked. The fact was made patent to Japan that her men were prisoners on parole, her ships trapped in a helpless position, and their fate resting entirely on the mercy of the government.

As if to add to the proof of helplessness, Tokio learned of the detention of the British ships, and knew that any or all alliances could not be depended upon in the presence of such might as the Americans could bring to bear.

Another day dawned in Washington, bringing with it the unconditional capitulation of Japan. She appealed for peace with dignity, and left the suggestion of terms to the nation with whom none might dispute, trusting to her magnanimity. Congress had been called into being again, and, imbued with the spirit which had actuated the president through all his stages of stress and trial, followed his wishes. The line man in the White House looked as something more than a mortal, and was at last being appreciated.

Japan was told that the United States demanded neither indemnities nor retention of the conquered fleet. For the benefit of the public the latter would be conveyed to New York bay, where it would be liberated and restored to its laws. The only condition was that on its return to Pacific waters it must withdraw all men it had placed in the Philippines and Hawaii, and restore the American flag with appropriate salutes.

This then was the end of the great venture by the island across the western sea, which had staked its hope of advancement upon a ruthless descent on an unprepared and apparently impotent nation. It had spent years in anticipation, had purchased the most deadly agents of destruction when ever presented, had worked night and day in its navy yards to build giant ships of war, had covered the United States with its spies until its espionage reached everywhere, and all for this!

Now, after all its deliberate plans and quick action, it was to accept as a sole cause for jubilation the return of the men who had manned its mighty fleet, and wait for the return of ships that were useless for all purposes. Its dream of indemnities was gone, its ambition for more territory was never to be realized, and its hope of competing with other great powers as a world factor had come to naught.

It is doubtful if the government shrank in the joy of those who had given up for dead the ones they loved and were now enabled to cast aside scars of mourning. The Japanese were to learn that one successful war does not constitute a series, and that all nations were not inefficient. The lesson of civilization had been hammered home with sickening emphasis.

Scarcely had peace been concluded when the administration by a declaration to its own people cut and with one blow of a knife a knot which threatened financial panic. It was preface with a statement that the reason why no indemnities had been demanded from Japan was because under altered conditions following the war it would be imposing a hardship on a nation already stricken, without the need thereof. In substance it stated that inasmuch as there would be no future appropriations and consequently no taxation for navies or fortifications, vast reductions would automatically be made in the expense of operating the government. It was also announced that as the United States had been presented with a new form of transportation by its inventor, it had set aside for him and his heirs sufficient royalties to render them financially independent, and that furthermore in the interest of perpetual peace the secret of the radioplanes would be maintained inviolable.

The railways of the country would be permitted to reorganize and continue as freight carriers until such time as their rates were deemed exorbitant or their charters expired, the government abrogating to itself all passenger traffic, within the confines of its own continent, and declaring itself a competitor for all ocean transportation under tariffs to be formulated. It ended by asserting that government ownership of aerial transportation was not adopted at the behest of any political party, but solely that the people might derive the benefit and the nation maintain its invulnerable power. This it was that the railways were still permitted to exist and no hardship worked save in the readjustments of capitalization, which losses fell mainly upon those who had accumulated vast fortunes by the very inflation which was now punctured.

As if to knit the world together in international harmony, the culmination came in a message addressed to all nations which was penned by the hand of the president himself. It was his proposal for the maintenance of peace, and read as follows:

"That war and its barbarisms may for all time be done away with, the United States of America submits that:

"By the grace of God it has been placed in possession of such power that it could not only conquer the world, but destroy the inhabitants of other nations. This has been fully demonstrated. It has no desire to utilize its strength unjustly, but purposes to exert it for the benefit of all men.

"It considers territorial greed to be the real impelling motive in nearly all international wars. Therefore it requests all nations become signatory to an agreement in perpetuity that under no circumstances shall there be any invasion of the territory of one country by another, and that all boundary lines shall remain as now established, except they be changed by the mutual and amicable agreement of the adjoining powers to which they belong.

"Questions involving national dignity can be adjusted by better means than war, as can nearly all other questions which from time to time arise between governments; hence the United States urges that full powers of adjudication and arbitration be vested in a standing committee representing each nation, which shall have for its seat of office some place upon which the greater number may agree.

"The United States, having faith in the Anglo-Saxon race as representing one of the most peaceful and conservative, has formed an offensive and defensive alliance with Great Britain, through the personal efforts of the king and his prime minister. These two governments have no desire to act as peace officers for the world, but pledge themselves to place all their power at the command of the international committee for the enforcement of its findings."

The German emperor, true to his promise, was the first to give official ratification to the message, and added thereto his earnest entreaty that all powers might speedily join.

He offered an eloquent argument in its behalf, fortified by his own observations, and reviewed the reasons why Germany had previously declined disavowal in conferences at The Hague. His attitude was that of impartiality, and no mention was made of the mooted questions between Great Britain and his own country, which were later adjusted satisfactorily through the commission, and passed into history as the first dispute which that body was called upon to arbitrate.

There followed a brief lapse of days, in which the other nations of the earth studied this communication in temper according to their desires. It came as an amazing document in an epoch which was uprooting existing conditions and establishing new ones.

The underlying threat of interference in any international war, however, made it patent that the wisest course would be in graceful acceptance, hence it was that all the principal governments bound themselves in the compact. The last page had been written in the voluminous history of strife. The blessing of the barbs, the reaching of the catapult, the clashing of sword and hucker, and the booming of cannon, which in the course of time had succeeded each other, were sounds to be heard no more on land or sea. Peace had at last assumed its tranquil dominion.

When the last acceptance from the most begrudging nation was received, the news was made known to the silent man in the White House. It was on another night in summer when the moon cast its shadows over the city and the shining breast of the river. Still alone, but now beloved and understood by all his countrymen, he knelt by an open window, and, with a face glorified by the radiance of the night and his thoughts, thanked the God who had made him steadfast to accomplish his desire. The president, too, had reached his goal of dreams.

TAFT TO LEAVE SYLVIAN RETREAT

Hot Springs, Va., July 27.—At a table by a window where the cool morning breeze from the mountain-side blows over his capitation, and dry breakfast food sits the Republican candidate for the presidency. It is 8:25 o'clock, and the morning train from Washington has just arrived, bringing a straggly Philistine tourist and a new batch of correspondents. Mr. Taft is alone, and this is one of his busy days, for the speech of acceptance still must be deftly folded down from 10,000 words to one-third that length.

For less than half an hour the big man with the friendly face and laughing eyes eats as composedly and as determinedly as if no irreverent caricaturist had exaggerated his physical proportions. By 9 o'clock he has withdrawn himself in his office room, to remain excluded until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the golf links are to be attempted if the drizzling mountain rain stops.

That is the daily program now, and something like it will continue until about Sunday, July 26, when the hard-working candidate will leave for Cincinnati, to be informed of the fact that he is to be the Republican standard-bearer.

ard-hearer of the campaign of 1908.

Old Place for Politics.

This is the queerest place in the world to be selected as a residence by a candidate for the presidency, who is supposed to be alert to make votes among the millions of his fellow-citizens. It would be ideal for a man who is composing an opera or writing an epic poem, but one cannot escape the belief that the exigencies of the campaign will before long lead to the selection of some less brilliant and less secluded but more easily reached place than this charming health resort in the heart of the Virginia mountains. From 11 to 12 and from 5 to 6 the hand plays in the golf lawn, just across the vividly green lawn, and at night there is more music in the ball room. There are hot springs of such wonderful curative power that they must be avoided except on prescription of physicians, and their waters will reduce almost anything but a speech of acceptance.

Everybody Steeps His Taft.

The clock approaches the hour, and grounds and hotel porches are deserted at the noon hour, for everybody taps except the candidate, who works away with his secretaries as if the heavily wooded mountains did not crowd down to the edge of the golf course. There are no deputations arriving now and there will be none until after the Cincinnati luncheon. Then the patriots who want to save the country through the medium of a personal interview with the candidate must remember that these Hot Springs are on a little spur line well away from the main road. There is nothing but the splendid big hotel, neatly furnished with guests and reached by trains not any too frequent.

Those who want to be ambassadors or cabinet officers or such like things would do well to bring their golf sticks. This is the best passport to a political conference in this section just now.

Traditions May Be Disregarded.

Of course, it has not yet been definitely decided whether either President Roosevelt or Secretary Taft will actually take the summer during the coming campaign, but the chances are that both of them will stretch some of the old traditions in regard to the duty which is supposed to hedge about the president and the man who is a candidate for that high office. It can be assumed that if President Roosevelt were a candidate for reelection he would not go about the country begging for votes for himself. It could be charged against him in that case that he was using the influence of his position to further his own political prospects. In as much as he has been out of the race since the evening of the last election four years ago and has never been willing to accept reelection, any position he may take in the coming campaign will be entirely free from the suspicion of personal interest.

May Speak at Mass Meetings.

Before Chairman Hitchcock left Washington for Chicago to make the preliminary arrangements for a western headquarters, and, subsequently, to hold a conference with the Rocky Mountain Republicans at Colorado Springs, the impression was general that President Roosevelt would make a number of speeches toward the end of the campaign. The understanding is that he will arrange to address great mass meetings in some of the larger cities, so situated that the people could come in from surrounding towns. If he does this, the influence on the result of the election will be great, and predictions are being made that if the president goes into the campaign personally he will make Taft's election sure.

There are several reasons, the Republican leaders say, why the president would be likely to make up his mind to make speeches in behalf of Taft. In the first place, the Democrats have unwisely reviled the old charge that President Roosevelt appointed Cortelyou chairman of the national committee as a part of a black-mailing scheme to milk the corporations out of large sums of money. Mr. Bryan has endeavored to crowdfish on this particular charge. He is enough of a politician to know that the people generally will resent any attack upon the personal honor of Theodore Roosevelt.

COUPON BOND betters by age, because it is made slowly.

You cannot hasten the process of paper making and get as good a paper as by the old slow method. You have to build a sheet of paper. J. W. I was at that time a sufferer from kidney trouble and had been for several years. My rest at night was greatly broken and my health was much reduced. I bought of Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a supply at the H. H. Son & Co.'s drug store. I took them as directed and was greatly benefited. I now think even more highly of this remedy than I did at first as it has stood the test of time."

GIRLS HEALTHIER THAN BOYS.

Only Two Were Rejected Out of 1,700 Children—75 Boys Refused.
Washington, July 27.—Examination of children under 14 years of age, who desire to work under the provisions of the new child labor law of the United States, has been completed at the Federal Industrial Hygiene Bureau. Out of a total of 1,700 children examined since June 20, the inspectors have rejected 75 boys for physical disability and only two girls. The same proportion in the matter of health is believed to exist in all the large cities of the country. Dr. O. W. Whitworth, who is in charge of the examination, says that the results show that girls are far better qualified to battle with the world than their brothers. While the number of applicants for permits to work includes more boys than girls, yet the percentage of rejection in the case of the boys has averaged 4.3 per cent. The girls, for the most part, are found to be suffering from heart and lung troubles.

IMPROVEMENT OF CONDITIONS NOTED

Henry Clews Optimistic in His Review of Week.

Stock and Bond Market Have Both Felt Great Advance in Prices.

STANDARD OIL'S DECISION.

(Special.)
New York, July 27.—Events during the week were almost universally on the side of improvement. Our crops are making excellent progress; business shows better recuperative powers; confidence is rising; the security markets have been unusually strong, and in general the trend of the times is towards leaving the panic behind and forgetting its consequences for the present at least.
The decision in favor of Standard Oil, upsetting Judge Landis' verdict of $29,000,000 fine against that great organization, was a natural sequence. Nothing else could well have been expected because it was patently exorbitant. This decision will have a good effect on the market because with most security holders the idea of such a penalty was that it really meant a condemnation of stockholders' property in corporations and they never knew when the lightning would strike them, which caused a feeling of insecurity. It was this effect upon the minds of stockholders generally that did more than anything else to intensify the 1907 panic.
Standard Oil stock declined from $100 to the highest price in 1908—$100. The rise from a recent point makes a difference of $15.00 to the stockholders of that corporation within a comparatively short time. The effect of this tremendous advance is to increase the confidence and courage of the promoters of the Standard Oil company, who are the greatest competitors of merchants that ever existed, winning a power, influence and energy such as has been previously unknown. A good deal of this influence is now in the stock market and has done much to make the recent advance possible.
Bond Market.
Next in importance to crop progress and the Standard Oil decision in the market factors was the great improvement in the bond market; the result of better financial conditions and a revival of investment demand. On the one hand, the improvement of funds for carrying on the improvements previously inaugurated. The price suddenly cut off their usual source of supply; throwing many hands out of employment and intensifying the industrial depression. Under present conditions the raising of new capital by stock issues would be impossible, and bond issues are the only resort. Fortunately a market can now be found for higher grades of the latter on reasonable terms; thanks to easy money and a partial revival of confidence. This recovery of the investment demand is one of the most significant and satisfactory indications of the times. As long as capital remained timid and recovery was impossible, and labor must have continued idle. Now that capital has begun to come out of hiding, recovery will go on and labor will once more get employment. The funds now coming to the railroad from bonds will cause a better demand for steel and other products, imparting new life to many branches of industry. The abatement in hostility in capital, which was so rampant last winter, will also be helpful to capital and labor alike. On all sides there are signs of sure

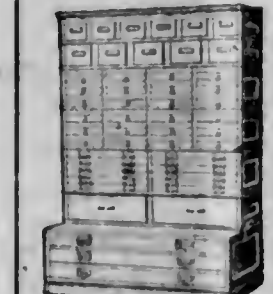

A FOOD DRINK
Which Brings Daily Enjoyment.
A lady writes:
"Though busy, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to rest of the enjoyment daily obtained from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not a stimulant like coffee."
"I began to use Postum 8 years ago, not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I dearly loved, made me nights long weary periods to be dreaded and snuffing me for business during the day."
"On advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as suggested on the package. As I had always used cream and no sugar, I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it as my Kentucky friend always wanted her coffee to look—like a new saddle."
"Then I tasted it critically, and I was pleased, yes, satisfied with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years."
"I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like Postum in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep and am not nervous."—"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

proving conditions the present leaders may be successful in forcing it to a higher level; but it should be clearly remembered that they are creating a market on which to unload, and on all pronounced advances it would be prudent to take profits, especially as the market might react sharply in event of crop or political scares. Securities are steadily passing from strong into weaker hands. Having strongly advised purchases of stocks for some time past I now equally strongly advise great caution in the making of purchases in the future. We are likely to have a good trading market, but the many favorable features mentioned above have been fully discounted in the stock market by the late prodigious rise.

A Californian's Luck.
"The luckiest day of my life was when I bought a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve," writes Charles F. Budahn, of Tracy, California. "Two 25c boxes cured me of an annoying case of itching piles, which had troubled me for years and that yielded to no other treatment." Sold under guarantee at all druggists.

Preston Declines.
"They nominated me only because I am in prison and for the purpose of making capital out of my misfortune," says convict Martin Preston, declining the nomination of the Socialist-Labor party for the presidency. It is evidently due to this now famous convict to say that he has a better sense of the fitness of things than has Daniel De Leon, the head and front of this political party, so-called, who put Preston in nomination. Quite likely they will fill his place by the selection of some other less scrupulous person. They ought to be able to find a candidate somewhere who is allowed to be at large.—Boston Herald.

INVENTS CHURN IN DREAM AND GETS $25,000 FOR IT.

Wills Pratt, an Indiana Farmer, Has a Profitable Vision of Mechanics Three Nights in Succession.

Sullivan, Ind., July 27.—WILLS Pratt, a farmer living near Farmersburg, is today $25,000 richer than yesterday, owing to an invention which he dreamed in a dream. Some time ago Pratt dreamed three nights in succession about the construction of an improved churn. The construction of it differed so radically from churns now in use that he set to work and modeled one after the one he dreamed in his dream.

As soon as the model was completed, he obtained a patent and began manufacturing churns on a small scale at his home. Various patent journals published announcements, describing the invention in full. Last week a churn company of Chicago asked Pratt to place a price on his invention, which he did, putting the figure so high that he had little hope of the company accepting the price. Contrary to his expectations, he received a reply that the company would accept the offer, and that it would send a representative immediately to close the deal.

It's easy describing the dangers of riches before you have any.

BRYAN VISITED BY HITCHCOCK

Nebraskan and Republican Campaign Leader.

Bryan Paid No Attention to Wm. H. Hearst, Who Had Room in Same Hotel.

POLITICS IS ELIMINATED.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—Wm. J. Bryan spent the greater part of Sunday in his rooms at the hotel where he received a number of visitors, chief among whom was Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican committee, who called to pay his respects. The two men spent some time in pleasant conversation which apparently both enjoyed.

Politics was not mentioned. In the morning Bryan attended the First Presbyterian church where he listened to a sermon on "Civic Duty," by Rev. John A. Morrison. After his return to the hotel he met informally members of the sub-committee of the Democratic national committee. Plans of the coming campaign were discussed.

Bryan will announce dates on which he intends making addresses during the next two months. He left for Omaha, where he will be the guest of the Akarba club, at a banquet. He will also be initiated into the society.

Although William H. Hearst, of New York, arrived during the day and his room in the hotel was not far from Mr. Bryan's, neither of the men paid the slightest attention to each other. It was announced today that John H. Burton, of New York, will act as assistant secretary of the national committee throughout the campaign. Willie J. Abbott was appointed head of the press bureau, which will work in connection with the advisory bureau under the direction of Henry Watterson. Chairman Mack decided to establish headquarters at the Auditorium Annex.

Executive Committee.

Chicago, July 27.—Announcement was made by Frank H. Hitchcock, chairman of the Republican national committee, that the following gentlemen will constitute the executive committee: Chas. F. Brooker, of Connecticut; T. Coleman, of Dupont, Delaware; William E. Borah, of Idaho; Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois; Chas. Nagel, of Missouri; Victor H. Water, of Nebraska; William L. Tard, of New York; Edward O. Duncan, of North Carolina, and Holes Penrose, of Pennsylvania.

The chairman decided to adopt a plan of having the executive committee made up mostly from the membership of the national committee. Before selecting the gentlemen named Mr. Hitchcock consulted with party leaders throughout the country.

THREATENING

WEATHER PREVENTED CENTURY RUN OF AUTOMOBILE CLUB.

Few Members Take Trip to Renton and Skim Earth on the Return to Paducah.

Threatening skies scared off the automobilists from making the century run yesterday and the trip was postponed until another Sunday when the weather man could promise better skies. However, several members of the Auto club were not to be out done, and at 11:30 o'clock as the skies cleared a run was made to Renton. The cars that made the trip were: Dan Fitzpatrick, Dr. P. H. Stewart, Mayor James P. Smith, Sam Foreman and Herbert Wallerstein. Not an accident marred the trip of 50 miles, and the roads were in good shape for the trial run. On the run to Renton the chauffeurs did not open out, but on the return trip the high power clutch was jerked into place. It is probable that the century run under the rules of the association will be run in about two weeks.

GIDEONS

ELECT OFFICERS IN CONVENTION AT LOUISVILLE.

Committee Will Consider Constitutional Amendments Before Next Meeting.

Louisville, July 27.—The Gideons in national convention here selected, Charles M. Smith, of Detroit, Mich., president; D. S. Ulrich, of Indianapolis, Ind., vice-president, to succeed J. K. Hemphill, of Nashville, Tenn., and Nels Nylander, of Chicago, treasurer, re-elected. The office of secretary is appointive, resting in the hands of the national cabinet. An amendment to the constitution was offered to make the office an elective one, but was defeated by a majority vote after a heated discussion.

Following the election of officers a resolution was offered by the national secretary, F. A. Farlick, providing for the holding of a national delegate constitutional convention to convene on the Thursday prior to the next annual gathering. It was carried.

Resolutions were offered that this national delegate constitutional convention take under advisement the amendments offered that the convention construct an entirely new constitution. The resolutions were adopted and this act had the effect of waiting the proposed amendments and leaving the constitution as it is at present.

CANDIDATES MAY HEED ADMONITION

United to Hear Series of Sermons on Our Country.

The Rev. D. C. Wright Talks of a Personal God and the Religion of Jacob.

OLD BAPTIST BELL SPEAKS.

Candidates for public office were invited by Dr. G. T. Sullivan last evening at the Broadway Methodist church to be present during the series of sermons he will begin next Sunday on "Our Country." In this series of four sermons Dr. Sullivan will treat the leading questions of civic righteousness and the responsibility of public position. Dr. Sullivan last evening preached the closing sermon in the series of four on "Our Homes," taking for his subject "Our Heavenly Home." This heavenly home is the pattern, he said, of what our earthly homes should be. The series has been largely attended. At the morning service Mr. Harry Gilbert played the organ and Mr. Emmett Bagby sang the offertory. Mr. Karl Smith, cellist in the Schubert Trio, a Chautauque attraction, played a solo accompanied by Mr. Gilbert. He is an artist on his instrument. Mr. John P. Robinson sang the offertory in the evening. Wednesday evening, the Rev. W. E. Sewell, a Methodist missionary to Cuba, will lead the prayer service.

A Personal God.

"The necessity for a personal God" was the theme of Dr. D. C. Wright's sermon at Grace Episcopal church yesterday morning, taking his text from Jacob's farewell to his twelve sons, in which the patriarch spoke of "The God of Jacob, the shepherd and stone of Israel."

The speaker called attention to Jacob's previous declaration to Pharaoh that his days were few and full of evil, and then to the change in the old man, who, looking back over his life realized that it had been full of good rather than evil, and his God had been with him in every emergency. Dr. Wright said Jacob spoke of God as a "shepherd," because he himself was a shepherd and he recognized in God the ideal, the perfection of what a shepherd should be. Dr. Wright said that every man should be able to think of his God in connection with his occupation in life. The reference to the stone, was a figure, descriptive of a great rock in the desert places, which protects young vegetation from the shifting sands and affords a shadow in which the traveler can rest in peace, indicating that Jacob saw in nature and in every day life and his surroundings, the divinity.

Baptist Bell.

Old-timers were pleasantly startled Sunday morning at 9 o'clock to hear the bell in the tower of the First Baptist church peal forth for a period of five minutes. It was the first time in ten years that the bell had been rung. The Rev. M. E. Dodd, the pastor, will have the bell ring every Sunday morning at that hour to remind the people, as in olden times, that worship is at hand. Dr. Dodd will be in Paducah this week and fill his pulpit next Sunday, leaving the following Monday on a three weeks' vacation.

tion. The first Sunday he is absent, Dr. J. H. How, of Louisville, associate editor of the Western Recorder, will fill his pulpit, and other speakers will be secured for the other Sundays he will be away. Dr. Dodd will go to Jackson, Tenn., on his vacation.

Last evening Dr. Dodd took as his subject the "Resurrection of the Unjust," controverting the theory of the Russellites that the tides referred to in connection with the un-decayed is the earth and utter annihilation without resurrection.

Urban Missions.

Missions in Cuba under the direction of the Methodist church were discussed morning and evening at the Trimble Street Methodist church by the Rev. W. E. Sewell, a missionary to the Pearl of the Antilles. The congregations that heard him were as large as the church conveniently could hold. Mr. Sewell, who is a former pastor of the church, told of the conditions found in Cuba by the first missionaries and of the changes they had settled. He will speak to other Kentucky towns this week.

The Rev. J. R. Clark, of the Twelfth Street Baptist church, left again this morning for Ripley, Tenn., to assist in revivals, and will return next Sunday to fill his pulpit.

The Rev. H. H. Terry, of the Third Street Methodist church, preached at Little's chapel Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. He will leave next Monday for the Fulton circuit to hold revivals during his vacation.

—Moonlight excursion by ladies of Tenth Street Christian church, postponed from July 14th on account of storm, will be given evening of July 30, tent leaving wharf at 8 p. m. Tickets purchased for former date good for new date.
